Summary: hi my name is endon my life has been hell since birth but some people ive met might change that endon trifer

2:00am at the trifer residents 10 year old endon wakes to his mother shaking him awake "endon, endon! wake up ""what mommy whats going on""there's bad people in the house son your dads has them in the living room we have to go now" the boy gets runs with mom to the stairs only to here the father yelling and things hitting the floor come on man all we want is your money you don't have to make it this hard now seeing my dad, a hardened marine reduced to a broken and bloody man then they saw us one man shot my mother in the gun "mommy !"then it all went black the other man hit me with the but of his gun i think i came to with my mom and dads dying bodies laying on top of me my nose burning with the smell of gas and all i could do is cry then the men relies i was still alive "dumb ass the kids still alive" the one man walks over to me and speaks "sorry you got dragged into this buddy ill make this quick the man pills out a knife and embeds it into my chest i scream in pain for a few seconds then the blood loss overwhelms me with my last bit of conciseness i see the men light a match and throw it at my parents bodies i could feel the flames on my body then i hear screaming it wasn't coming from my parents it was coming from the bad men then the screams stopped a man dressed in black and no face pics us up and carry's us out of the fire and carreid us to the edge of the forest setting us down i see my mom and dad are nothing but burnt and mangled bodys then i black out but hear its ok child you can rest now ill take care of you

In the void of darkness endon could her his parents voices "you got to fight it son you're a fighter its not your time yet"just as he herd those words he stirs from conciseness to see a man in orange hoody and black face reech for the knife protruding from his chest " you sure this is a good idea slender "yes now hurry up or hell die of blood loss" hearing this the little boy speaks up" I -I don't want to

'Shit he's awake, this is going to make it that much harder' slender man mentally face palms "ok hoody masky hold him down" the two complied and grabed hold of his arms and legs the boy starts to freek out and starts to thrash about "no no you can have me no I don't want to die" masky speaks up "dude if we don't get this knife out of you you will die no hold still" the boy slows down his thrashing and begins to cry "I I don't want to die I don't want to die" then a calming then two flames envelop around the boy "the fuck is this shit" masky shouts one of the flames speaks son calm down now were going to take some of the pain away but we cant do it forever you got to trust them the flame speeks to slender man "now we can consume some of the pain now can you help him" the tall pasta if had a face would be surprised as fuck right now "sir can you save him!" snapping out of his surprised state "yes I can help him" the flame speaks back to the boy " ok now son this is going to hurt a lot and we can only stop so much of it so you need to be strong" with that both flames begin to glow and so does the boy "OK now!" the tall pasta begins to pull the knife embedded deep in the child the young man crys out in grunts and screams when the knife is out the two flames dive into the wound and it quickly closes up then the boy drifts off to sleep in his head he hears his parents speak son we will always be with you now more than ever sleep well my little trooper

two days later

Endon wakes to the sound of running water trying to sit up he is confronted with a sharp pain in his chest he sighs as the memory of two days ago wash over him the pain the sorrow and the loss rattle him to his vary core he lays back and starts to cry alone and broken at the age of 10 the cries didn't go unheard a kid no older than he was enters the room she looked like a little girl though the girl was covered in dried blood and stained clothing her eyes were the lightest shade of blue she wares a pink dress or it was sopposed to be pink most of the color has faded awayshe looks both creepy and cute then she asks him "Why are you crying?" Endon looks at her and says "because I'm alone""no your not you got me, slendy, ben and the others you'll never be alone" her word seemed truthful but the hole in his heart told him otherwise "thanks but " he was cut off by a hug not a pity hug but a full on loving hug at that moment he didn't feel that alone any more just as he was about to thank her the man with no face comes in "sally were are you the foods getting cold" there he sees non other than sally hugging the little boy "hello child how do you feel" Endon looked at said man and said "I'm in a lot of pain but ill manage" than man with no face sighs "ok if you can walk food is downstairs and maybe you'd like to meet the others, do you need help getting downstairs" Endon throws his legs over the bed and stand up wincing in pain sally looks at Endon and asks in a worried tone "are you sure your ok?" just then Endon gets engulfed in purple flame "oh he's going to be fine well get him downstairs "sally ran out of the room screaming "too much creepy" slender looks dumbfounded "uhhh the parents of the child " the ghosts of the father speaks through Endon "yes now I'm going to get him downstairs please have a chair ready because I don't know how far he will make it he's still in bad shape and therefor I can only keep it up for so long" slender man nods and heads for the stairs before yelling down stairs "masky get a chair for Endon ready he's coming downstairs " masky yells back up "how the fuck is he standing let alone walking " slender looks at Endon and yells back down "he's got help" masky looks around then yells "ok we got the chair ready its at the bottom of the stairs"slender man looks over to Endon and nods the spirit in Endon puts one foot in front of the other making his way to the stairs and then looks down talking to itself it speaks "ok Mr. trifer you've been in worse situations its just like helping your buddy whos shot get down the stair only this time your the body and no ones helping "sighing he puts one foot in front of the other as his sons legs feel like jello he makes it 3/4 of the way down and his legs give way he thinks that he's going to fall but just before he hit the ground he's caught be a man in a hood and orange goggles "gotcha there bro" the young man picks Endon up bridal style and sets him in the chair before picking the chair up and setting him down at the table the spirit looks at him and asks "son what's your name " he looks over at Endon and sees a purple flame around his body "well sir my name is toby rogers ill make sure Endon stays safe the man looks at him and could tell the man was sincere but before he leaves and lets his son eat he says "kid if there's anyone I would wasn't in a foxhole with me in a fight it be you thank you all of you for watching over my son with that the flame disappears and leaves them to eat in a awkward silence
